Alarms save two lives in early Monday fire

Clarinda and Eric Beilstein show life-saving smoke alarm to Sgt. Larry Lutzow of the Sierra Madre Police. They escaped with only the clothes on their backs.

Sierra Madre firemen view damage to the Beilstein home that was totally destroyed in the early morning fire Monday on West Montecito Ave. Charred skeletal timbers are all that remain of the home.

A clanging smoke alarm is attributed to saving the lives of two Sierra Madreans, Clarinda and Eric Beilstein, in a 4:30 a.m. fire Monday at 632 W. Montecito.

The three-bedroom home and at least 80% of the contents were destroyed in the early morning fire that brought local police and firemen as well as Arcadia Fire Dept.'s mobile air refilling system (MAC 31).

Sierra Madre Fire Chief Marc Mueller said Arcadia was called to patrol the area to make sure no embers flew onto homes in the area with shake roofs. "We could have handled the original assessment ourselves but because of the shake roofs in the area, we decided to call Arcadia," he explained. They patrolled the area for an hour.

Mueller estimated the total loss at about $180,000 which includes both the home and contents. He said there was not a lot of salvageable clothing."

At 4:30 a.m. Clarinda Beilstein awoke to the sound of the alarm just outside her bedroom door. "It took me a moment to realize what it was. I opened my bedroom door and saw smoke from the kitchen and den area. I got out of the house and saw Eric across the lawn. We ran over to John and Georgia Graham's home across the street and they called the fire department. They were awakened by the barking of their dogs."

Eric Beilstein said he opened the door and found the house filled with smoke and the six alarms going off at the same time. He got out and found his mother coming around from the back of the house.

He said the Sierra Madre Police were there in less than a minute and the first firemen arrived within two minutes.

Eric, 22, is a student at Cal Poly, Pomona. Clarinda Beilstein teaches first grade in downtown Los Angeles. They have lived in Sierra Madre since 1984.

The Beilsteins have had the alarms since they first saw a demonstration at the Los Angeles County Fair "four or five years ago."

Fire Chief Mueller told The News that the local firemen had "a hard time getting through the nine layers of roofing which included tar and rock. The present roof was of composition shingles. He explained that originally the house was shake shingle-sided, then it was covered over with wood "which leaves a large air space for fire to develop and spread." The two-story wooden structure (first story and basement), built in the early '20s, was destroyed in a short time.

The swimming pool was partially empty since remodeling of the pool was to have begun this week.

The fire rekindled briefly Monday evening but was squelched within 15 seconds, according to Mueller.

He told The News, "With a fire of that magnitude, it's difficult to tell the difference between smoke and steam. It is always a concern to residents in the area where there has been a major fire."

The Beilsteins will stay with Mrs. Beilstein's son and daughter-in-law, Kurt and Jana Beilstein in Arcadia or with Mrs. Beilstein's daughter and family, Tim and Gretchen Ramey in Temple City.

Two firmen, Leonard Zlotorowicz and Robert Duer suffered ankle injuries at the scene and were taken to Arcadia Methodist Hospital were they were treated and released for follow-up care.

Arlie Hahn is 'Senior Citizen'

Arlie Hahn, who has lived in Sierra Madre for 24 of her nearly 50 years of marriage, has been chosen by Sierra Madre Commission on the Aging, Inc. as Sierra Madre Senior Citizen of the Year. The honor is unique since her husband, John, was last year's citation-winner for the same honor.

Sierra Madre Civic Club nominated the Sierra Madre woman and the City Council will put its stamp of approval on the action at next week's regular meeting. Hahn was chosen from 10 candidates who were also designees from clubs in the town.

Those Senior Citizens picked from around the southland will be honored by the Los Angeles Board of Supervisors sometime in May.

Hahn was originally from Washington State. She is a member of Civic Club, American Red Cross, Sierra Madre Community Hospital Auxiliary (of which she is 1st vice-president), is president of Sweethearts Club, the auxiliary to American Legion Past Commanders Club. She is also a member of the Foothills Health Advisory Board, a member of East Pasadena/Sierra Madre Republican Women

New manager at Lloyds Bank

A woman whose Arcadia office of Lloyds Bank of California has been named "Office of the Year" for two years in succession is the new part-time manager of Lloyds Bank in Sierra Madre.

Elizabeth M. (Betty) Watson will spend two days a week in the local office and three days in the office at Michillinda and Huntington, she told The News this week. She has been vice-president and manager there for 10½ years out of her 31 years with the bank.

Watson has been a vice-president in commercial lending since 1960, and was the first woman to achieve that rank in any bank in Los Angeles.

Scouting program attracts best

Although the month of February is traditionally known as "Boy Scout Month," since the program was actually started in the U.S. Feb. 8, Scouting principals are looking forward to 1985 when the program celebrates its diamond jubilee.

According to John Chikow, senior district executive with the San Gabriel Valley Council, a Blue Ribbon Committee is being sought to put together a celebration for Scouting for next year. Sierra Madreans should start thinking about how we can honor this group that was chartered by the U.S. Congress in 1916.

Sierra Madre boys are part of the San Gabriel Valley Council, one of 414 local councils. "We have been one of the fastest growing councils since 1980," Chikow claims.

Contrary to what most people believe, there are more boys in Scouting than ever before. "We are at the bottom end of the birth curve," he told The News. Sports programs are organized in such a way that a boy is forced to choose between them and Scouts. "This is not an indictment. But it is different these days because of increasing pressures on the parents, particularly single parents and homes in which both parents are working. We have to work harder to encourage and convince boys and their families. Sometimes adult leaders don't know how to do that. We must make Scouting look appealing yet not change the basic tenets," Chikow says.

He also explains that Scouting groups

Under the Pepper Tree

by Jan Reed

● When my sister, Em, came up from San Marino the other evening she brought her own mineral water since I seldom have any on hand. When I saw the brown paper bag with an insignia from a hardware store, I thought she was bringing her own screwdriver . . .

● In a forthcoming ad in The News, Margaret at Gem Plumbing plans to feature fireplace log-lighters as gifts at housewarming parties . . .

● It's not every day that I get into a car with a stange man but I did it the other night. Remember last night when the wind was banging limbs and trash against windows and buildings?

The icy winds and wild darkness greeted me when I started out the front door of the News at 7 p.m. I shivered, remembering that I had no coat. In anticipation of walking around into a dark parking lot to my car, I stepped back into the office, walked to the phone and asked Don to come drive me around to my car. It was the first time I'd ever done that.

I stood in the front office watching for a light-colored Volvo to drive up, and when one did, I braved the wind and flying debris, locked the office and ran to the car. I opened the door and heard, "Hello?" Trying to keep any more of the cold wind out, I shut the door fast, then heard another "Hello?" I looked around expecting Don's face, and there was someone large, blond, in a blue shirt just like Don's, but it wasn't Don.

I stuttered apologies, tried to explain my plight, attempted to describe Don, clutched at my purse and tried to get out of the car as quickly as I could. To all this the stranger kept laughing and saying, "No problem — no problem."

A few minutes later

Congratulations, Kids

Remember the Campbell Kids? They're the decorations — in the form of dimpled children — on cans of Campbell Soup Co., of course. Well, they are celebrating their 80th birthday this year.

They have fewer dimples these days. They are gradually slimming down. And most recently they've joined the U.S. Olympic Team. They have taken up figure skating, speed skating and hockey, bobsledding and skiing because Campbell is sponsoring the U.S. Figure Skating Team and Campbell's soups were designated "official soups" of the Winter olympic Games just completed in Srarjevo, Yugoslavia.

These "Kids" were created by artist Grace Drayton, using herself as a model. She first sketched the Campbell Kids at her husband's request because he wanted them to be added to his advertising layouts for the company. They were first used on streetcar cards in Philadelphia in 1904.

At first they were just active, healthy looking children. Later they were portrayed as athletes, police, sailors, soldiers.

Congratulations for being octogenarians, "Kids."

It's Leap Day

It's here — something we've been waiting for during the past four years. It's Leap Year and we have a whole extra 24-hr. period this year. We have Feb. 29.

What are you going to do with those precious extra hours?

I know what the presidential candidates are going to do — campaign.

Perhaps that's why God gave us that extra day during Presidential election year so we'd have that extra time to hear the accusations and bragging.

Questionable, fiery decision

We realize we're new in town — only three years — and we know that the U.S. Forest Service plans prescribed burns in the mountains from time to time for the purpose of burning off some of the old, dangerously combustible plants. But we can't help but express our surprise that a city in Southern California, where smog has perhaps the highest incidence in the nation, would opt to burn debris left over from the recent windstorm instead of disposing of it in another, less dangerous and inocuous fashion.

At its last meeting the City Council made the decision to allow the city engineer, backed up by fire department personnel, to torch the monumental pile of debris. Yes, we heard them say they would continue to water it down as it burned so the mighty bonfire would not get out of control. But in the interest of breathing easier, wouldn't we be better off not to introduce smoke into the atmosphere at all?

Scouting program

are changing to involve Hispanics and Asians into the council. "We've field-tested and developed a program called 'in-school Scouting' for parents who do not regularly get involved. For one hour a week we provide a trained, in-school leader who goes into the classroom of both boys and girls and presents 'generic' Scouting. They work with children as young as Cub Scouts and Brownies. In some cultures, Scouting is not common and we are finding the need to establish this program for those children."

What is the difference in the program? "Rather than counting on volunteer parent support, our hope is to provide Scouting in the school so that by the time the student is old enough to join the Boy Scout program, he will be ready and find it possible."

Who teaches the program? College students who are trained and employed part-time, Chikow reports. They work in over 150 classrooms serving 2250 boys.

There is also a career awareness program in 16 high schools in the San Gabriel Valley. This program represents 7400 high school students, Chikow says, who work directly with volunteer professionals who teach them how to identify their career interests.

"You may have an Explorer Post, such as the Sierra Madre Police Explorer Post, that encourages them to join," Chikow demonstrates part of the professional program.

They also work with plumbers, computer experts, lawyers, and there are over 130 merit badges boys may obtain through this program.

With a 1984 budget of $1,200,000, growth goals have extended to about 27,700 for this year, Chikow says. "That should make us at almost 33,000 by 1985."

The five districts in the council include Rose Bowl, Lucky Baldwin (which includes Sierra Madre), Mission Amigos, Mountain View North and Mountain View South. Council executive is J. R. Lewis.

Chikow has been with the Scouting program for eight years, starting in Milwaukee County Council as exploring executive. He majored in youth agency administration in college and says, "My best friends are 'Y' execs and Scout execs."

He is a "Chicago boy" who went to work at the Chicago Area Council at the age of 16. The camp director was a professional Scout and encouraged the Eagle Scout to go into the field.

"I would have to say I'm an altruistic person. That's the way I am, though I don't approach my job as a do-gooder. It may sound corny but the values of Scouting are still the highest personal ideals to aspire to. We ask the boys to do their best. We ask them to do their duty to God and country and to live up to 12 points of law which range from trustworthiness to being friendly, cheerful and reverent. If everyone in this world worked at what we ask the boys to work at, the positive ramifications would be astounding."

The beginning of the Scouting program in the U.S.? We've all heard the story about the Chicago businessman, William D. Boyce, who was lost in a London fog. An unknown Scout guided Boyce to his destination and refused a tip for the services. The businessman talked with Lord Baden-Powell who brought two trunkloads of Scouting equipment to America and helped Boyce found the Boy Scouts in 1910. They were chartered by the U.S. Congress in 1916.

Many people ask me what to do with kumquats. Here is a favorite of mine. It is great to give as a hostess gift. It tastes great poured over ham slices.

1 qt. fresh, washed kumquats
1½ C sugar
1½ C water
3 Tbls. lemon rind, grated

Wash and prick with point of knife. (This will prevent bursting in cooking.) Combine sugar and water and bring to boil. Add lemon rind. Simmer for 5 min. Add fruit to cooked syrup and cook very slowly until kumquats become clear and transparent (approximately an hour). Cool and pack in sterilized jars.

Tips, Tales & Tantalizers

Try as I might, finding the right superstition for Feb. 23rd's article was quite a fiasco. Perhaps because this day is very special to me. It is the day someone "threw an old shoe" at my folks.

Actually, throwing of an "old shoe" is restricted (in superstition) to wedding celebrations. And my folks were married on Feb. 23.

"Throwing of an old shoe" was really a thoughtful gesture. You see, people believed that a person's soul lived in his shoes . . . . or boots. So this belief of preservation-of-life made shoe/boot throwing very good luck indeed. It was even better luck to tie shoes or boots to the back of a car. Can you imagine roaring down the highway on the way to your honeymoon with a bunch of shoes and boots following close behind . . . just clump-clumping along . . .

I include boots, because my dad is a cowboy from way back. And he did not wear shoes, only boots. My mom is a cowgirl from way back too. In fact, they go so far back, they could not remember how many years they have been married.

It seems that Dad vaguely remembers borrowing a dollar from my mother's mother to buy the marriage certificate. My mom only remembers guitars, stage lights and a standing ovation after the two did a successful duet in New York. And then Dad proposed. Yes, what romance, and all because someone threw an old shoe.

Well, I know I take after my mom, as far as being a romantic, and really believe that superstitions are not always superstitions. For if someone had not have thrown an old shoe, (boot), there wouldn't have been me, or my sister, or my brother, or our home! And that is why Feb. 23 is very, very special. So happy anniversary, Mom and Dad. I love you. (P.S. It's your 37th!)

Planning Commission to study enforcement problems

By Fred Wesley

Following a request by the City Council, the Planning Commission, at its regular meeting last Thursday, voted to meet in special session this week to consider recent concerns that conditions imposed by the commission and the council in granting variances and conditional use permits were not always being enforced.

The decision to hold a special session occurred toward the end of the meeting, immediately after a public hearing regarding a potential enforcement problem at a condominium development at 45 E. Highland Ave.

The hearing, to consider revocation or modification of the Conditional Use Permit granted to R. W. Farrell for construction of eight condominium units, was called by the commission at their January meeting after an adjacent resident, Marie Hartley, complained about the removal of trees shown on the developer's "Tree Preservation Plan" as "to remain" and about potential damage and hazards created by the grading of the site.

Farrell explained to the commission that the trees were removed contrary to plan because he felt they were "diseased" and would have blown down in the recent wind storm. Under questioning from the commissioners, he acknowledged that the severe grading required on what he termed a "hillside lot" contributed practical difficulty of saving the trees.

Approximately 28 trees were removed in all, 10 of which were scheduled for preservation.

Following additional discussion regarding the severity of the grading, the hearing was continued until the regular March meeting to give Farrell the opportunity to present a proposal to alleviate some of the concerns expressed by the commissioners.

In additonal action, the commission granted two variances for projects in the canyon, one to Nancy Williams for a carport nearing completion at 609 Woodland, and one to her neighbor, Timothy Hayden, for an addition to his residence at 619 Woodland. After hearing complaints from his neighbors that Hayden's property had been a construction site for a number of years, the commission conditioned his variance on completion of his project within six months.

Buchan, White exchange vows

Mr. and Mrs. Gregrey White

Andrea Mari Buchan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew R. Buchan of Sierra Madre, and Gregrey Scott White of Fresno, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm S. White of Trona, Calif., were united in marriage Dec. 27 at Church of the Ascension, Sierra Madre.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon with white satin ribbon over taffeta with a chapel train. The hat was fashioned with a tulle veil and the bride carried a nosegay of red roses and carnations, Christmas greens and baby breath.

The bride wore opal earrings loaned to her by the groom's mother and a string of pearls collected for her by her family from the time she was one year old.

Ann Loomis was maid of honor and Linda Lain and Cathy White, the latter who is sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. The maid of honor wore lilac and the bridesmaids, mauve.

Greg Flynn was best man and ushers were Kirby White, brother of the groom, and Alec Buchan, brother of the bride.

Mother of the bride wore burgundy and the groom's mother wore a gown of aqua blue. Father of the groom was attired in a kilt of the Royal Stewart, Clan Stewart tartan.

The reception for 50 guests was held at the Parish Hall of Church of the Ascension.

The bride is a graduate of Pasadena High School, attended Cal Poly Pomona and expects to continue study in recreation administration at Cal State Fresno.

The bridegroom graduated from Trona High School, attended Oregon State University, UCLA and Cal State Fresno. He will continue his study in health science. He is employed in Biola as quality control inspector.

After a honeymoon in Claremont, La Jolla and Trona, the couple is at home in Fresno.

Out-of-town family members who attended were Phil and Bruce Ryall, Bakersfield, cousins of the groom. Also attending the wedding from out-of-town were the following relatives of the bride: Dr. and Mrs. John L. Benton, Pasadena, aunt and uncle; Barbara Benton, aunt, and Kathleen Benton, cousin, of Laguna Beach.

BULKY SWEATERS
by Joe Delgatto

Bulky sweaters are a popular fashion item, but may cause problems when cleaned. Many times, the fibers used in the garments are extremely heat - sensitive and will shrink several sizes in the cleaning process.
Most of the sweaters causing problems have been imported, often from Mexico. Some aren't labeled. Others have inaccurate labels.
Excessive shrinkage can occur during the heat of deodorizing and even more so during any attempt to steam or block the garment.
Customers should be aware of the potential problems with these items and purchase them at their own ridk. Be sure to look for a label.

Reward for painting

A $1000 reward is being offered for the safe return of a painting which was stolen from the Pasadena City College art gallery last May.

Titled "The Coz-Playboy Jazz Poll," the 24" x 19" acrylic illustration depicts comedian Bill Cosby with a musical instrument.

Job-Related Moves May Reduce Taxes

Many expenses incurred in a job-related move may be deductible on 1983 income tax returns, the Internal Revenue Service advises.

Moving expenses which can be deducted include the cost of travel to the new location; moving of household goods and personal effects; pre-move house-hunting trips; temporary living costs at the new location; and certain expenses related to the disposition of an old residence and acquisition of a new one. However,the maximum deduction for the last three items is limited.

For the exenses to be deductible, the distance between a taxpayer's new job and the old home must be at least 35 miles further than the former home was from the former job. A taxpayer who is an employee must work for at least 39 weeks during the 12 months after the move.

Eligible taxpayers can claim the moving expense deduction whether they itemize deuctions or not. Expenses are reported on Form 3903, Moving Expense Adjustment, which should be filed with Form 1040.

For more information, taxpayers can order the free IRS Publication 521, Moving Expenses, by using the order blank included in the tax package.

Alhambra shop in new quarters

Bernie Kornblau has a lot in common with the Brothers Grimm since they have each created fantasies for children.

On Saturday, Feb. 25, Bernie Fornblau's fantasy begins a new life, in a brand new building that houses Adorable shop/The Prep Shop in Alhambra. Everyone is invited to celebrate the day along with Kornblau and his staff. The day-long party will last from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Vince Ferragamo, the Rams quarterback, will be greeting the crowd and signing autographs from noon until 2.

Also scheduled are booths from the Los Angeles Children's Museum, plus an array of delights for the young and young-at-heart, including story telling, singalongs, a mime and contests for prizes that include a bicycle, a surfboard and a day at Disneyland.

Kornblau carries everything from the classics to couture. Carters, Izod, Polo, Health Tex, Florence Eisamen and OshKosh B'Gosh are just a few of the well known names in stock. There is a special couture salon just for girls, filled with designer names. Boys and girls from infancy through teens can fill their closets at Adorable Shop/The Prep Shop in Alhambra, America, located at 50 S. Garfield.

another light - colored Volvo pulled up and parked right beside the first auto with the strange man, you can be sure that I identified Don before hopping into the car.

● Do you ever hear animals on the roof of your homes in the early morning hours? Have you ever noticed that a bird sounds like an elephant up there? A woodpecker sounds like a jackhammer? We keep hoping our eucalyptus tree will bring koala bears but so far we've seen none.

Our pitysporum surely brings the bees. Right now ours is abuzz with what sounds like a swarm up there. Now and then single flowers fall quietly, and once in a while a bee that has gorged itself on nectar falls to the ground, too full to fly.

The smells of spring are upon us — fruit tree blossoms and other flowering shrubs fill the town with fragrance.

● There's a female applicant for the Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Dept. Her name is Vickie Young and at this point she is strictly an observer since there are no openings for someone who lives but does not work here.

The firemen would be pulling a first if the department voted her into membership.

O lord, mercifully hear our prayers, and having set us free from the bonds of our sins, defend us from all evil; through Jesus Christ, your Son, our Lord, who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, now and forever. Amen.

You are welcome to worship with us each Sunday at 10:30 a.m. (See ad on this page.)

Gas company seeks increase

Southern California Gas Co. recently filed an application with the state Public Utilities Commission (PUC) for a 3.4% increase in its revenue, beginning in January, 1985.

If the commission approves the utility's $197.5 million annual increase request as submitted, a typical residential customer's winter bill for 100 therms would increase from $54.39 under present rates to $58.19.

The additional revenue would come from a proposed increase in the monthly customer charge for residential customers would go up from the present $3.10 to $6.90. This would be the first increase in the monthly customer charge in eight years, said John Abram, gas company chairman.

After a series of public hearings on the utility's request, an administrative law judge, who has been assigned to the case by the PUC, will make a recommendation to the full commission. The commission then will review the case and is expected to issue its decision in December, 1984.

New chief in Monrovia

Dr. Philip Y. Attalla, general and thoracic surgeon, has been elected chief-of-staff at Monrovia Community Hospital for 1984. He was installed at the staff's annual installation dinner on Jan. 31.

Rose Float

Lake and Walnut in Pasadena.

"Besides a crumpled front end (of the vehicle), the figure of Little Red Riding Hood was knocked over, Tom Sawyer was split in half and Captain Cook's head and body were knocked askew," the paper reads.

Robert Burns was driving the car and the float was being driven by Ben McGee.

After the accident the float was taken to its starting point on S. Orange Grove and an S.O.S. phone call was made to Sierra Madreans.

New flowers were rushed to the scene via a Sierra Madre Police car and "the workers labored in repairing figures and the front end until the parade started at 9 a.m. that morning.

"With the exception of Captain Hook who was slightly crooked, the float looked as good as new as it rolled down the parade route," according to the piece.

And the float was awarded third prize in its classification.

Congregational

Pastor Richard J. Anderson's sermon message on Feb. 26 will be titled "Tent-making in Corinth." The scriptural reference for his message will be the books of Acts, chapter 18. The Sunday evening service which starts at 6 p.m. will be the first in a series of six films titled "The Dynamic Laity" featuring Chuck Bradley. These films will help every member of our congregation discover what it means to be truly involved in the life and ministry of the church. The first film is titled "But . . . ## Contest, local interest about cats

Are you a feline fancier who's simply "bonkers" over your cat? If so, your pet could become a contestant in the national "Why I'm Bonkers Over My Cat" contest.

Sponsored by Beatrice Foods Co. — manufacturers of Bonkers Cat Treats — the cat contest offers an opportunity for six felines and their lucky owners to win an expense-paid trip for two to New York (home of the Catskills). The biggest treat goes to the grand prize winner, who will also receive a special backstage visit with Bonkers, the celebrity cat — star of ABC-TVs "All My Children" daytime serial.

To enter the Bonkers contest, simply mail a favorite snapshot of your cat, plus a 250-word-or-less summary of why you're "bonkers" over your pet, to: Bonkers, c/o 980 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 1350, Chicago, IL, 60611.

Entries must be typed or printed and should include your name, address and telephone number. (All semi-finalists will be notified by mail or telephone). Employees of Beatrice Foods Co. and American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., and its subsidiaries are not eligible.

In California, the deadline is Feb. 29.

Speaking of cat stories, Harry Martin dropped off a letter to the editor he sent to the Pasadena Independent in 1956 in which he describes his attempt to save a kitty that had apparently been left to die. "He was a tiny fellow, not over six weeks old . . . He had apparently been thrown there in a paper sack as he succeeded in crawling partly out of the sack and was lying on the damp ground," Martin wrote, then described the death of the animal.

"Here was not only a senseless piece of brutality but an example of what is wrong with the world today. No wonder we are in a world filled with hatred and cruelty . . . Some will wonder: 'Why the fuss over the death of a kitten?' My answer is that he had as good right to live as any of us," Martin said in his letter.

Martin told the News that in 1956 he received several letters from that article and that one person even suggested he start an animal shelter.

Women greet Antonovich

Supervisor Michael D. Antonovich will be the guest speaker at the regular luncheon meeting of the East Pasadena Republican Women's Club on Thursday, Mar. 1, at 10 a.m. at the Altadena Town and Country Club. He will speak on a variety of subjects pertaining to Pasadena and Altadena.

The meeting is open to all, but reservations are required by Feb. 27 for the luncheon. For further information and reservations call 578-1003 or 797-3859.

British Club emerges

San Gabriel Valley British Isles Club will hold its 2nd membership drive on Monday, Feb. 27 from 7:30-9:30 p.m., at the Southern California Savings and Loan, 5607 North Rosemead Blvd., Temple City.

From Behind the Wire

by Ed Colucci

Stand up America, stand up and be proud for we are the champions. We took most all the good stuff in Sarajevo.

Ask Scott Hamilton who the champ is. Ask Bill Johnson who knocked their socks off. Ask the Mahre brothers who showed them how to do it at their own game.

Those Carruther kids were just great in their program and the gold should be theirs next time time around. And Tiffany Chin, what a little doll she is, and I want to skate with her as soon as I get my double runners back from the foundry.

I feel sorry for Katarina Witt from East Germany (she won the gold in figure skating) because she's all done competing she'll never be heard from again. Our kids go on to big bucks in the follies and other commercials and all she can look forward to is trying to get over the wall.

And before I close, let's hear it for Jeff Hastings the ski jumper who came in fourth, the best the states has ever done. And the four-man bobsledders who ran in a second hand sled to finish well up in the standings (5th).

In local happenings the High Flying Eagles of Marshall are still hanging tough in the C.I.F. and our local Sweetie Ann Thurman is now playing big time softball for PCC.

See you on the street.
BIG ED
